Ana Monte has been an advisor since 2004 at the Teacher Training Centre of Gijón, Asturias, Spain, where she deals with innovation projects at schools, especially related to school libraries, children's literature and gender equality. She has also been involved in European projects like ELS@Work and BeCLIL (Benchmarking Content and Language Integrated Learning)

Before that time she was a Secondary school teacher of foreign languages (English and French) since 1993. She has a degree in English from Salamanca University.
