Berit Carmesin is a Lecturer in German for the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) at the National University of Ireland, Galway. She graduated from the University of Cologne in Scandinavian Studies, German and History and also studied in Oslo and Bonn, where she obtained a Postgraduate Diploma in Teaching German as a Foreign Language.

Her research interests include the integration of new technologies in teaching and their impact on students' language and intercultural learning. Her main focus in this area is the use of Web 2.0 technologies. At the National University of Ireland, Galway, Berit Carmesin regularly runs podcasting and other media projects.

Together with her colleagues Doris Devilly and Michelle Tooher, she obtained funding of the Irish National Academy for Integration of Research, Teaching and Learning (NAIRTL) in 2008 for the work on their project WikiLingua.ie.
