Birgit Wittenberg is the head of the Competence Center eLearning Niedersachsen, an organisation responsible for the implementation of eLearning in Public Authorities of the German federal state of Lower Saxony.

Birgit Wittenberg graduated in Technical Translation from the University of Hildesheim in 1995. Until the year 2000 she worked for Baan Company, a supplier of ERP software, where she was responsible for the localization of education products for the German market. The products included printed material as well as various online training products.

Afterwards she worked as a senior consultant and project manager for HUT GmbH, a supplier of eLearning software, until her maternity leave in 2002.

In 2004 she started working as a free lance consultant in the field of eLearning. She was soon involved in several projects funded by the European Union and by the German federal state Lower Saxony. On behalf of the Bildungswerk ver.di she was involved in some transnational projects organised by Pixel. The latest one is the project "ELS@work". She is not only the author of the German language module but she is also taking the role of the German tutor.

In 2008 she became the head of the eLearning Competence Center in Lower Saxony and is now responsible for the implementation of eLearning in different Ministries and Public Authorities of Lower Saxony. Apart from organisation and requirement analyses, concept development, implementation and evaluation of various e-learning tools her main focus is on the use of live online training.
