Romana Padovnik Rajšter is a teacher of German and English at the Secondary School of Catering and Tourism in Celje, Slovenia. She participated in a Leonardo da Vinci mobility project for VET professionals in Germany which later served as a basis for development of national occupational qualifications in the catering sector. At school she is particularly involved in searching for adapting and/or creating user friendly materials for professional language in the hotel and catering sector. She participated as a team member in the Leonardo da Vinci Language Project Eurocatering Language Training, which was awarded The European Language Label 2008 in Slovenia.
