Assistant Conference Manager

Andrea graduated in "Languages, Literature and Intercultural Studies" in 2012 from the University of Florence.

He started his professional career in 2013, working in the tourism and real estate field, and then began a new experience with Pixel, as the assistant to the organization of the conferences.

Andrea is the contact person for the secretarial, organizational and logistic activities of each of the three international conferences in the field of Higher Education that are organized yearly.

Andrea stays in contact with the participants, providing the support requested by email and by telephone, from the pre-registration and documents' submission phase, up to the sending of the scientific articles for their publication. Participants are constantly updated according to the deadlines of each event.

Andrea supports the planning of the conference programme, the organization of the sessions and logistics, in cooperation with the Conference Manager, Dr. Lorenzo Martellini.

Finally, Andrea is in charge of the management of web portals and social networks of the 3 international events, where he posts information about the deadlines and initiatives promoted during the conferences, photos, videos and so on.
